

TAYLORE B. SINCLAIRE

Taylore B. Sinclair has compiled one of the greatest compositions of personal awareness ever revealed and developed it into a tangible technology that can be used by any man or woman. IlluminEssence® is the missing link, which connects the external and inner Self.

Although IlluminEssence deals with the sensory elements we all obsess over, there is a much deeper conclusion to Taylore's equation -- the enhancement and awareness of self. People who have experienced this exhilarating phenomenon have walked away with their heads higher and their confidence compounded as their self-esteem soars. As Taylore herself explains it, "IlluminEssence returns spirit to inspiration."

This unique technology was developed by Taylore over the past two decades. She integrated her education in art, design, psychology and philosophy with her experience in fashion, interior design, color and image consulting. With this broad foundation, her insights and study of human behavior revealed a phenomenon in personal communications. Taylore organized and refined her discoveries into a technology that explained human responses to texture, sound, smell, shape and color. These responses fall naturally into four distinct groups – identified as "Harmonic Tones", with innate inner impulses and physical characteristics belonging to each Tone. Coordinating the inner and outer manifestation of the person maximizes non-verbal communication, and increases personal confidence.

Taylore has invented a patented method for identifying the Tone of an individual. This can be done by a certified IlluminEssence representative or by using the soon-to-be-released patented Self-Evaluation Profile.

Testimonials and often dramatic "before" and "after" photo series document the effectiveness of the basic programs and complementary products already fully developed and in use with groups and individuals. Yet this is just the tip of the iceberg. Taylore has created extensive advanced support for those already actively using the IlluminEssence technology. The most exciting potential -- from a mass marketing perspective -- is the adaptation for independent use. Soon individuals will be able to complete a Self-Evaluation Profile, learn their tone and about the technology, and apply it to their personal and professional lives -- no matter where they live in the world.

To date, the excitement of Taylore as a teacher and presenter has been experienced by thousands across the U.S. through her in-person seminars and workshops. Soon, she will be available to everyone through audio tapes, video tapes, CDs, books and the internet.

Taylore is committed to the application of the IlluminEssence technology throughout the world to create harmony, happiness and peace one-by-one-by-one.

Taylore B. Sinclair brings a whole new meaning to the word "visionary"!
